Dear Ariva, dear

I really hope that you get better! I'm very worried about you. Ariva, you don't have to prove anything to any of us. We don't care what you look like, as long as you're happy and well. I'm not just writing that just to write it, but I really mean it. We all love you and we all want you to get better! Take it easy! Take care! Keep in touch! Have a great summer! Love ya always,
Debbie Bengouat!

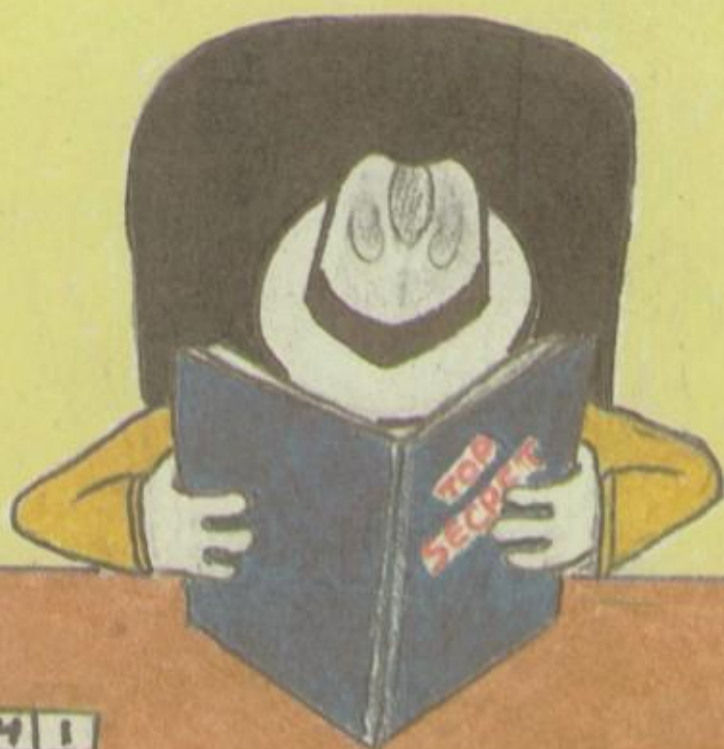

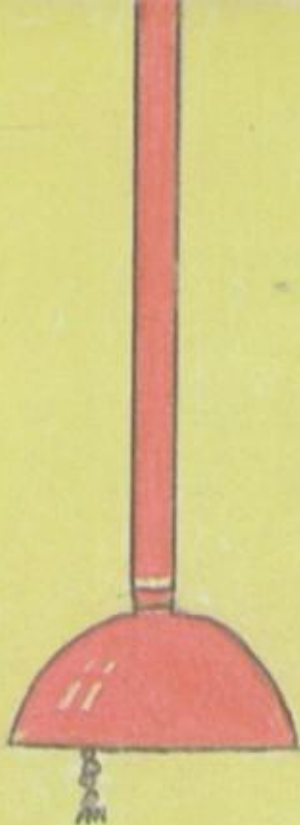

Dear Aviva,
 I'm really happy that you decided to come to I.O., because I really feel that we became closer. (we probably have closer because of your whole idea.) Aviva, truthfully I'm really worried about you, and I want you to start eating and get out of this hospital & get better. I'm really concerned about you. As soon as you get better
 we have to get together.
 Get well and
 Have a Super Summer!

Love,
 Tiffanie

SYNTHESIS

M.C.I.C.

SYNTHESIS-SHILUV: To us this is the meshing of both the Torah and Secular worlds. It is only with this synthesis that we can exist in our turbulent world of changing values.

At YULA we achieve this synthesis by becoming involved in a combined program of Torah and general studies. Not only do we learn the subjects necessary to prepare us for college and careers in the modern world, but we can approach our futures with the moral foundation we obtain from the teachings of Judaism. Synthesis is not an ephemeral ideal, but a tangible reality. At YULA we see fine models of this synthesis in our Rabbis and instructors, the successful product of a Yeshiva and college education.

In this yearbook, we have endeavored to highlight the dual nature of our program, illustrating the compatible coexistence of both our worlds.

עתידי : תורה עם דרך ארץ.

בעוד חודשים מספר חסתיים שנת הלימודים האחרונה בביה"ס החיכון.
עלי להביט עתה אל עתיד ולהחליט סופית מה לעשות בו.
אני באה ממשפחה המונה רופאים ורבנים רבים. שני הענפים הללו מהווים
שלב טוב. הורי חנכו אותי לאהוב את היהדות ולכבד את החיים. לכן אני יהודיה דתית, שחפצה להיות רופאה.
לדעתי חשוב הדבר להיות קשורה עם הקהילה החילונית והקהילה היהודית כאחד. אם אצליח להיות רופאה, אשיג את שתי המטרות הללו. כשאעבוד בבית-חולים יהיה לי קשר עם אנשים שונים מרקע שונה. יש דרכים חיות בהן יכולה
אני לקשר את עצמי לקהילה היהודית. אולי אעבוד בבית-חולים יהודי או אף
יחכן שאגור בישראל אלמד את ההלכות שעל יהודים לדעת בקשר לרפואה. יש בעיות בוגע למה מותר לעשות בשבת והלכות הקשורות בניחוחים.
אך, מלבד הדברים האלה, כל יהודי מצוה להיות רופא, מראה שהוא משלב
את תלמוד התורה עם דרך ארץ. תפקידו של רופא הוא לשמור על החיים והנפש שהקב"ה נתן לכל בן-אדם. הוא צריך לעבוד עם הבורא כדי לרפא את החולה.
זו מטרה נעלה.
חשוב לזכור שצריכים ללמוד תורה, ולא רק כשיש לאדם מקצוע, אלא גם
במשך הזמן שמקדישים ללמוד אותו מקצוע. לכן, ברצוני להשתתף בשעורים בישיבה גבוהה בו בזמן שאלמד באוניברסיטה.
המסקנה היא שבגלל שאני חיה בשני עולמות, האחד - עולם היהדות, השני - עולם המדעים החיצוניים עלי למצוא אותם. נראה לי שבעתיד שבחרתי אצליח בע"ה לשלב תורה עם דרך ארץ.

WE DEDICATE

Our yearbook to Rabbi Moshe Meiselman, Phd., whose religious and administrative guidance has helped to establish a major institute of Jewish learning in our community. His wisdom and strength have been an inspiration to us all. We wish him health, happiness, and continued success in all his endeavors.

הוֹדוּת וְהַגְרָת

The Senior Class Of 1981

Rabbi Moshe Meiselman
Dean of Academic Studies

The The end of the senior year marks a major turning point in one's life. As you, the second graduating class of YULA High School, close the door on your years of adolescence and emerge into the adult world, we are confident that the many years of preparation in the day school system of Los Angeles will equip you to meet the twentieth century as mature, intelligent Jews. The philosophy of YULA High is that a firm foundation in "limud ha torah" is the only way that a young Jew becomes equipped to deal with the realities of modern life. Our sages taught us "If a man will tell you there is wisdom among the nations of the world, believe him. If He tells you that there is Torah among the nations of the world, do not believe him." The only source that a Jew has for his values, for his ethics and for his world-view is the Torah. It is that solid learning of the classic sources of our tradition that will continue to inspire you for your entire lives. It is therefore important for you to view the learning of Torah not only as part of the schooling of your adolescence, but also as a continuing and necessary part of your life as a Jewish adult. During your lives you may learn much wisdom in many schools and universities, but it is only the continual learning of Torah that will inspire you to live your lives as well-integrated Jews and complete human beings.

Rabbi Moshe Meiselman

You have set an example for all of your fellow students in areas, not only "Bein Adam Lemakome" but also "Bein Adam Lechavero." Your diligence and depth of Torah learning, as well as your devotion in davening, have served to set the standard at Y.U.L.A. High Schools. Most of all, we have seen how you've practiced loving kindness to your fellow Jews in your weekly "Mitzvah Missions" to the Nursing Homes as well as how you've extended your helping hand to the less privileged students in Vancouver, British Columbia.

We are extremely proud of our first boys' graduating class as well. The depth of Torah learning which has been attained and the appreciation of knowledge in general, has been demonstrated by so many of our students having decided to pursue their studies in Israel.

May you continue on the path that you're on so that you will continue to bring Nachas to your parents and teachers. The challenges ahead are many but by continuing to learn and to practice honesty and kindness in our confused world, you will be perpetuating that which the Torah teaches.

Dr. Bruce Powell
General Studies Principal

Dear Graduates,

During the senior year, one often spends a great deal of time pondering the notions of "endings" and "beginnings." Both ideas are exciting to the point of exhilaration and very scary. On the one hand, you are culminating twelve years of hard work, discipline, set hours, and the close attention of your teachers and principals. You are bidding farewell, in a sense, to a warm, closely-knit world, a world of security, open doors, and clear directions. On the other hand, and most importantly, you are officially ending the safe environment of childhood and entering an adult world where, all of a sudden, you become legally, morally, and socially responsible for making crucial choices and decisions for life. You must now apply the skills, knowledge and disciplines developed during the past twelve years to aid in analyzing various options.

The most strenuous challenge will come in the making of moral choices. No longer will there exist a simple "black and white" moral scheme. The myriad shades of ethical decision making will tax your knowledge and commitment to the extreme. In essence, the choices you make from now on really count!

Even though it is important to ponder future responsibilities and past achievements, you must not lose sight of your present existence. Be aware of the future and past, but plan to "live" right now. The future and past are inexorably composed of every action you do at the present time. Essentially, the past and future is the present. Concentrate your energies in absorbing the magnificence of G-d's world. Sensitize yourselves to the intricate and mystifying relationship between mankind and nature. Enjoy the very act of breathing, seeing, smelling, and touching. Don't miss out on your present life experiences by living in the future or past. By losing the "now," there will be no other chance to relive it in another dimension of time.

Finally, in thinking about "beginnings" and "endings," and about the "time dimension" in which you plan to live, remember the line from Shakespeare's play, Hamlet, where Polonius advised his son, Laertes:

This above all- to thine own self be true;
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

Since I cannot improve on the Bard's advice, I shall end as he did, "Farewell: my blessing season this in thee."

Sincerely,

Bruce J. Powell, Ph.D.

*I can't tell you how good I feel about our talk today.
I have discovered a warm, sensitive human being - a person with whom I hope to develop a much closer relationship in the next two years.
Sincerely,
Bruce Powell

THANK YOU

Dear Teachers,

THANK YOU for:

Extending due dates
Brightening our days with your amusing wardrobe selections
Patience when we don't understand Sorely needed advice about our future plans
Making difficult assignments seem manageable
Taking the time to talk and shmooz
Taking our practical jokes good-naturedly
Shipping us off to Seminary
Helping us with yearbook
Persistently pounding punctuation into our heads(!?)
Bolstering student morale
Imparting the Mussar we so desperately need Keeping us thoroughly confused
Making sure we're at davening on time
Giving us time to sleep during lectures
Giving us writer's cramp
Proving to us that raising teenagers is no picnic
Keeping us HEALTHY
Judging us objectively
Helping us realize our potential
Giving us a true appreciation of Israel
BUT, most of all thank you for helping us successfully reach this turning point in our lives as true B'nos Torah.

Thank you for being there.

With love,

the Senior Class of 1981

We would like to express a special thank you to our Yearbook advisors, Mrs. Krich and Mrs. Nimmelman, for all their help, encouragement and patience in aiding us to create this Yearbook. Special thanks also goes to Mrs. Berdugo, Hebrew advisor, for her assistance to the Hebrew editors. Without their guidance it would never have been possible.

EIGHTY-ONE

Completing the year, leaving these halls -
Lately, that's all we've been able to think about,
And yet
Somehow we feel so
Safe in now familiar surroundings, free of responsibilities and
Of decisions to be made "outside", where the Future rushes towards us.

Each of us has grown, separately and together,

In many ways. We have learned that in Giving of ourselves, we are the true benefactors. We have reached

Heights that once seemed insurmountable in Torah learning and secular studies.

Y.U.L.A., you have given us the best

Of both worlds. We thank you for challenging us with this

Nisayon and preparing us for the Endless challenges life holds in store for us . . .

IT'S YULABIA TIME!

Shredded newspaper strewn all over the hallway- what is the meaning of this? Who are the culprits? Of course, it's YULABIA!

In keeping with the spirit of Chanukah, the three teams were called Bayamim Hahem, Bazman Hahzeh, and Bimhayrah V'yamenu, led by able members of our student body: Rakel Josephy, Rachel Abrams, and Stacey Meyerhoff. Competing in everything from relay races to drama and art projects, the three teams displayed terrific Ruach! Team Bimhayrah V'yamenu emerged victorious.

YOM IYUN IN WILL ROGERS STATE PARK

On a sunny day in September, Y.U.L.A. girls piled happily into a bus and headed for Will Rogers State Park. After lunching on the lawn, we participated eagerly in individual Shiurim on the topic of Teshuva given by our teachers. Later we assembled, and a representative from each Shiur presented the highlights of each discussion. An exciting Machanayim game, in which even Mrs. Grossman participated, followed this educational afternoon. The school provided cold soda for our enjoyment, a refreshing treat to conclude a delightful afternoon.

VANCOUVER

The YULA Senior girls 7-day trip to Vancouver began somewhat inauspiciously. Mrs. Derovan almost missed coming along; several girls couldn't make it; and Rabbi Hexter intimated that if we slipped up we might as well stay in Vancouver permanently.

In spite of everything, the trip was extremely eventful and successful. In addition to touring scenic Victoria, bike riding, and engaging in an exhilarating snowball fight on Grouse Mountain (poor Mirna!), the girls visited the Vancouver Talmud Torah, most serving as teacher's aids and some preparing a Kiddush for the school.

All through the trip, one note prevailed: puns. We "punned" everywhere, relieving occasional moments of tension, inventing "punny" and not-so-punny remarks. As we travelled the structures spanning Vancouver's innumerable channels, we worried at times about our safety (Mrs. Derovan kept mentioning that those have been known to collapse) in true YULA spirit, we decided that we would cross the bridge when we come to it.

BIG SISTERS/LITTLE SISTERS

AND COUSINS

BREED STREET SHUL

BEGINNINGS...

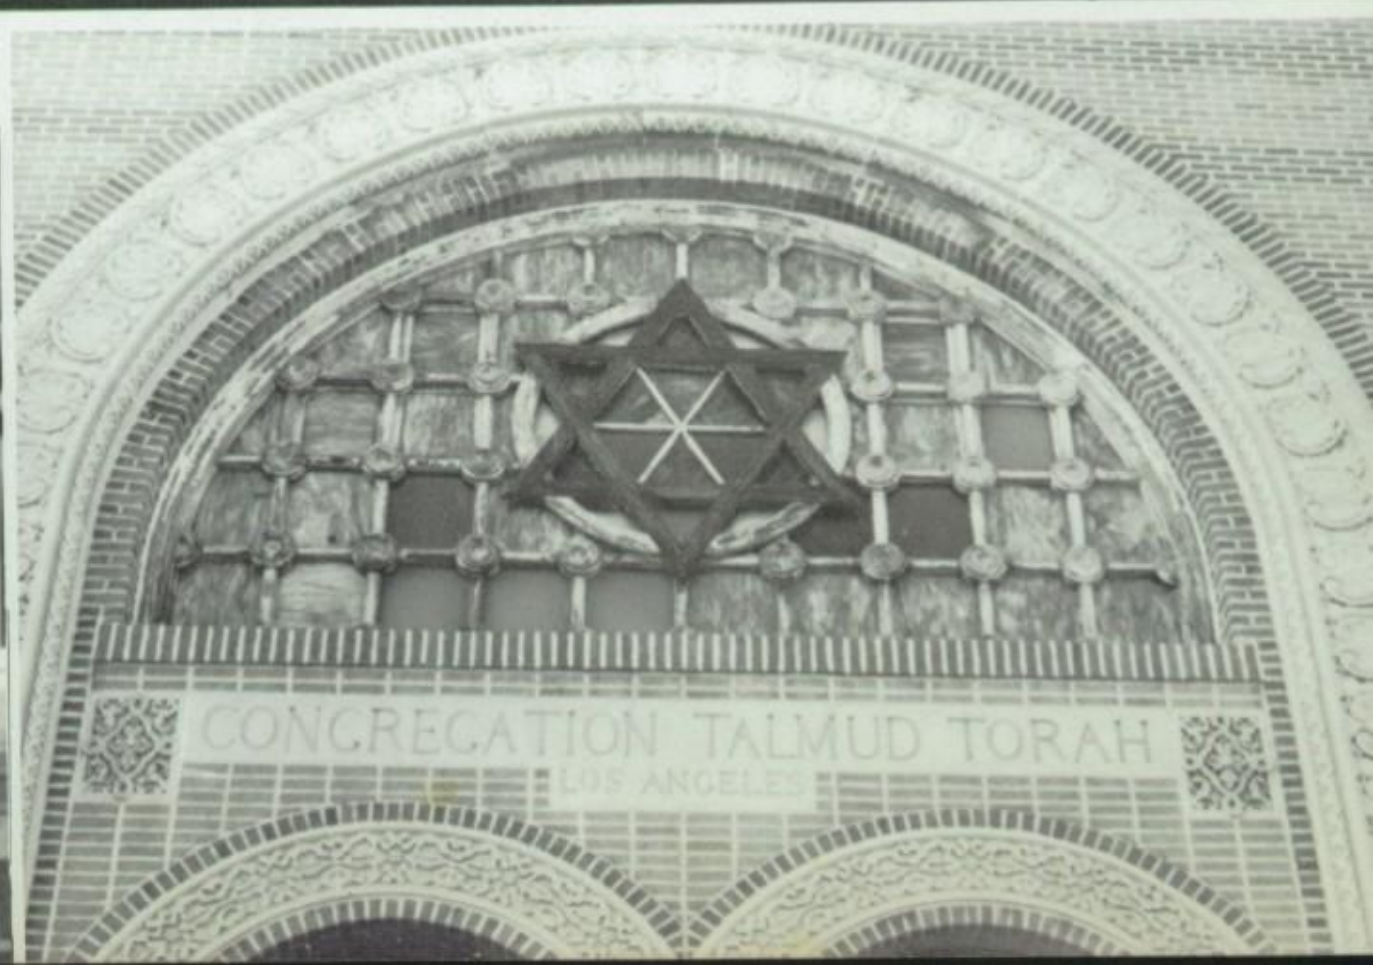

We were standing on the steps of a weathered brick building. It was just an old structure, a remnant of a different era. We all knew what we were looking at: the historic Breed Street Shul. Very few of us, however, were aware of the shul's earlier flourishing existence or the great impact it has had on Los Angeles Jewry.

The side door of the shul was opened, and we went in. None of us had expected the majesty and timeless beauty of the shul's interior. We gazed in awe at the impressive wooden stairways that drew our eyes upward to the lofty, arched ceiling. Inside the sanctuary, handcrafted antique chandeliers softly illuminated the Bimah, and the Aron Kodesh emanated a special feeling of Kedushah. Murals of religious motifs and soft nature scenes enhanced the walls. Stained glass windows of vibrant hues depicted each of the twelve tribes. Through a small hole in one of the windows a pigeon flew in, seeming somehow at home as it circled above the long wooden benches and slowly ascended to a familiar perch in the ceiling ledge.

Although the awe-inspiring beauty of the shul is timeless, the passage of years has scattered the community that created it. Originally established in the early 1900's, Congregation Talmud Torah, under the inspiring leadership of Rabbi Osher Zilberstein, z"l, served the growing needs of the flourishing Jewish population in Boyle Heights. At the peak of the shul's existence, it was not unusual to see one thousand people attending Shabbos services.

The new generation began moving in different directions, some to the Valley and some to the Fairfax area, transporting the seeds of their rich heritage. The creation of Yavneh Hebrew Academy and, indeed, the entire Los Angeles Jewish community as we know it today, has its roots in an aging building in Boyle Heights.

MITZVAH PROGRAM

"הנעריו ובלקנינו נאק"

A LABOR OF LOVE

A wrinkled, hunched old woman, lips turned down in a melancholy frown, passes by, making her tedious progress down the hall. Few notice her; almost no one pauses to smile or say a simple hello.

A lonely man lies, immobile, in the stuffy, lifeless hospital room. He speaks to no one; no one speaks to him. He tries to eat; he tries to sleep. With all the medical contraptions attached to him, he cannot.

Yeshiva University has a keen sensitivity to the functioning yet forgotten people of our community. Uniting the young and old goes as far back as the days of the Torah, where Moshe Rabaynu, ZT"L, told Pharaoh "We will go with our young and with our old." This is what Yeshiva University is striving for as it sends its senior girls to various old age homes and hospitals every Friday. There, by speaking with the people, we try to bring warmth to an otherwise cold atmosphere, at the same time bringing a sense of fulfillment to ourselves.

At the hospitals where we volunteer, we also find this sense of fulfillment by visiting and serving the patients, helping the nurses carry out their duties, filing in the records offices, and delivering messages. While these duties may seem trivial, they are certainly very meaningful to the people in the hospital as well as to ourselves.

We would like to thank you, Yeshiva University, for giving us this opportunity to learn about humanity and do Chesed simultaneously.

הרהורים

בעוד חודשים מספר אהיה בת 18. רק המחשבה על כך מעוררת בי יראה. כל השאלות שהיו בשנים קודמות על עתיד ומהשאלות הנדושות על החיים פורצות עכשיו. עתה איני יכולה "לדחותן לשנה הבאה"... כשהייתי קטנה הייתי בטוחה שבגיל 18 אפחור את כל השאלות. מימד הזמן הוסף לי בטחון, עתה אני רואה שעדיין לא התחלתי, וזה מפחיד. עדיין מחפשת אני תשובה לשאלות ומנסה להבין מהי הדרך הנכונה אליה מחיפאים להגיע, בצורה בלעדית, בקבוצות שונות. הצעתי לכאן, מקום אחד משרשרת מקומות שהייתי בזמנים שונים בחיי כעובדה מוגמרת שנקבעה בשבילי. מגיל 18, כשהכרירה החופשית בידי ואני הקובעת את כל ההחלטות וחייה עם כל התוצאות, ההיסוס לקביעה גדול יותר והפחד מפני כשלון חזק יותר.

בית - הזקנים אותם אנו מבקרות פעם בשבוע, נחן לי ראייה אחרת על החיים. בפעם הראשונה ראייתי סוג אחר של זקנה: בדידות, סבל וחוסר תקווה. בכל אחד מהם חשבתי, אצור עולם מלא, סיפור חיים שעתה דועך לנגד עיני, ויהפך במשך הזמן לזכרון מעורפל, עד בוא השכחה.

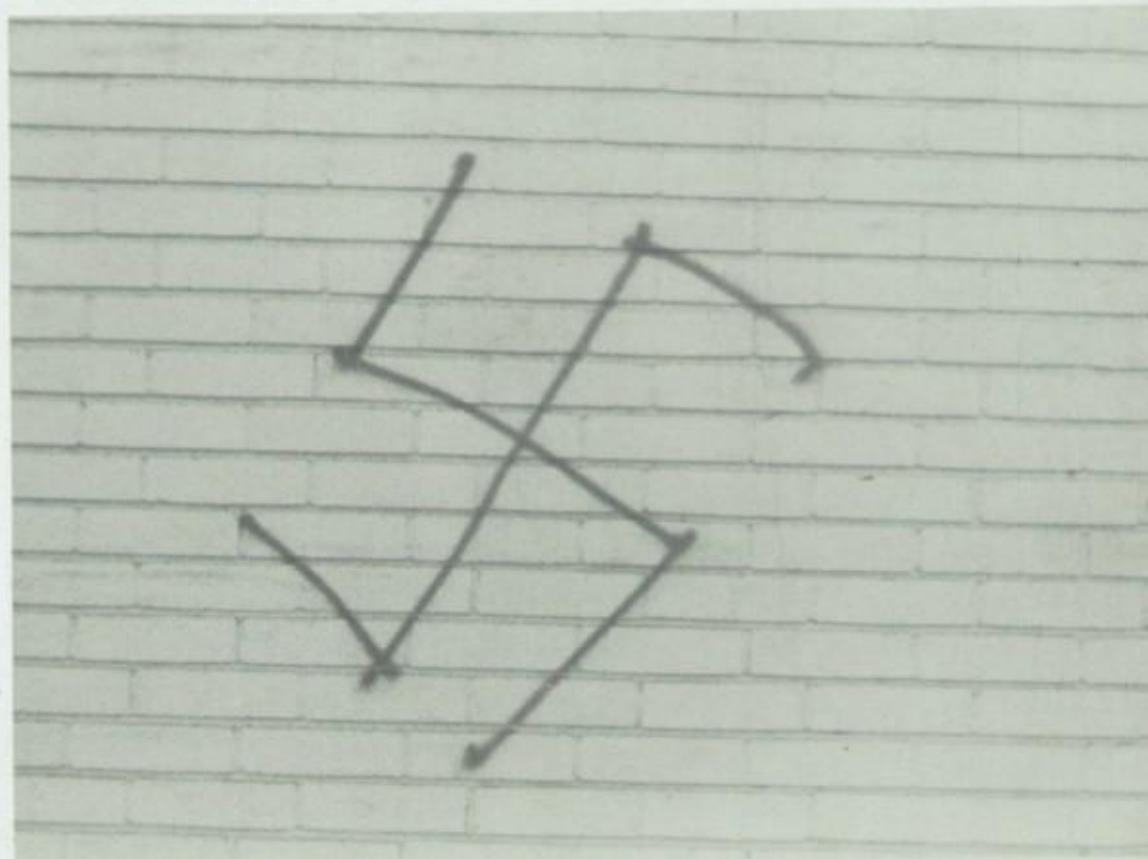

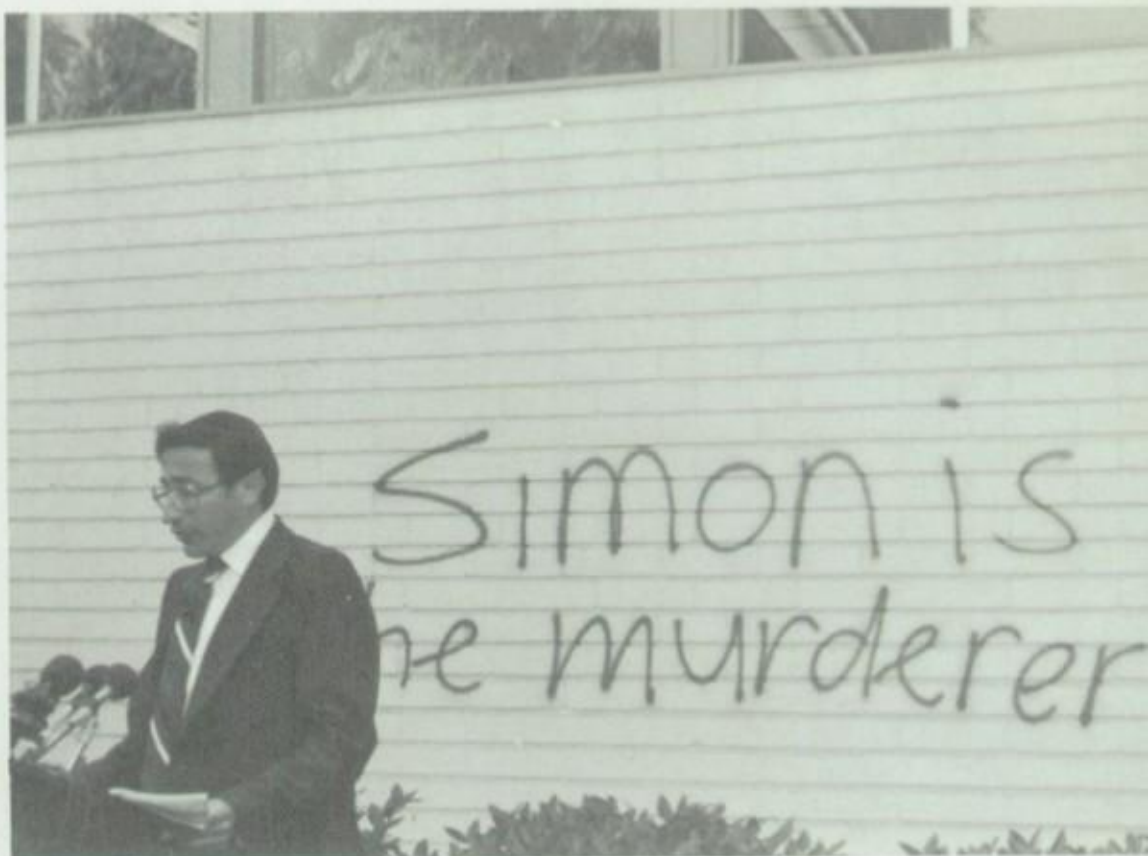

פחאום הבעיות היומיומיות, העומדות במרכז מחשבתי נראו קטנות כל כך, כמעט מגוחכות, והמחשבה לעשות את הנכון - דוקרה.

אולי זה יותר מדי יומרני לנסות לקבוע את כל הדברים בחיים, להבינם, להטבירם ולשלוט בהם בצורה מושלמת. אך בכל מקרה, צריך לנסות להחזיק בהגה הסירה ולהביט קדימה בשעה שאוקיגוס החיים סוחף אותה לדרכים בלתי ידועות.

נוריה בן-יוסף.

On Tuesday, January 6th, Nazis desecrated the outside walls of the Yeshiva University Simon Wiesenthal Center for Holocaust Studies at 9760 West Pico Boulevard. They drew swastikas, other signs of the "SS," and German slogans like "Wake up Jews! The SS is coming," and "Death to the Jews." The front of the building was disrespectfully sprayed with the words: "Simon Is The Murderer."

To protest this outrage, approximately 250 people gathered in front of the building at noon. Rabbi Marvin Hier, Dean of Yeshiva University and the Simon Wiesenthal Center for Holocaust Studies, spoke to reporters stating that this was obviously not the work of neighborhood teenagers, but rather a disgraceful display done by Nazis.

LITERATURE

A BICENTENNIAL PERSPECTIVE OF LOS ANGELES JEWRY

In 1841, Jacob Frankfort moved West and became the first Jewish resident of Los Angeles. In this year of the Bicentennial celebration of the City of Angels, it would be interesting to chart the progress of Los Angeles Jewry from the earlier days of a pioneering community to the flourishing metropolis of 1981.

Goldmines, sunny mild weather, the challenge of unexplored territory — all these attractions drew Americans and immigrants to California in the 1800's, and the beginning of the 1900's brought large numbers of Eastern European Jews to Los Angeles. Keeping pace with the growth of the larger Los Angeles Community, the Jewish population increased from 2,500 in 1900 to 70,000 in 1930. By 1948, Jews numbered a quarter of a million. Approximately 2,000 were coming each month, clearly indicating one of the greatest migrations in Jewish history. Today there are approximately 700,000 Jews in Los Angeles, making this city one of the largest centers of Jewish population.

Jews contributed significantly to the economic growth of Los Angeles. They not only held official positions but organized the first Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles in 1873. Jewish wholesale and retail merchandising was one of the largest industries in town; the leading bankers in Los Angeles, who later became the financial giants of Southern California, were Jewish. An editorial in 1873 in the local Los Angeles, Daily News commended Jewish businessmen "for their commercial integrity and their studied isolation from prevalent vices of gambling and inebriation. We commend them for their general business and personal probity . . . they are among our best citizens and the city suffers nothing in their hands . . . "Many Jews were involved in either real estate, financing, or the building trade. Research, electronics, aircraft, and educational institutions were also strongly represented by Jews as well as the professions of medicine, law, and accounting. In the 1930's the University of California at Los Angeles had only one Jewish professor. Thirty years later, the faculty included over 400 Jewish instructors.

Jews were also instrumental in making Los Angeles the capitol of the movie industry. Three of the eight major production companies were partly owned by Jews; fifty-three of the eighty-five production executives were Jewish.

The economic growth of Los Angeles attracted a large number of Jews to the city. The tremendous increase in population resulted in the formation of the first recognizably Jewish neighborhoods: Temple Street, Boyle Heights, and the Central Avenue District. By the late 1960's, these areas diminished in size as residents moved further west to the Fairfax, West Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, and San Fernando Valley areas.

In the 1850's social welfare organizations were beginning to sprout. The Hebrew Benevolent Society of Los Angeles, the first such organization purchased an area of land from the City Council which served as a Jewish cemetery until 1900. Other organizations set up were the Zionist Organization, Bhai Brith, United Jewish Welfare Fund, Jewish Community Committee, and later the Bureau of Jewish Education.

Along with the economic and social development of the Jewish community was the formalization of religious services and the establishment of congregations and synagogues of various denominations. "Yom Tov" services began in 1851, and were more conventionally established in 1854 with the arrival of Joseph Newmark, who served as the patriarch of the Jewish community until his death. Services took place in rented buildings or private residences until 1873, when the first shul was built on what is now Broadway Avenue.

The first Orthodox shul, Beth Israel (the "Olive Street Shul") was established in the early 1900's. Among the Orthodox congregations, the most distinguished was Congregation Talmud Torah, or the "Breed Street Shul". Rabbi Solomon Neches, and later Rabbis Osher Zilberstein and Yonah Ganzweig, were the scholars who helped bring continuity and prominence to the shul.

The rapid expansion in population resulted in the multiplying of congregations and synagogues. By 1968, there were over 150 congregations, with the number of rabbis exceeding that amount. The largest Orthodox congregations at this time were Beth Jacob Congregation and Beth Tfilah.

The Orthodox community has certainly developed since the beginning of the century. Presently, there are approximately 40 Orthodox shuls throughout Los Angeles County, including several Chassidic and Sephardic shuls, Kollelim and four branches of Young Israel.

Although the rapid growth of congregations was quite impressive, the condition of Jewish education was not. In 1923, approximately 1,500 children were receiving some form of Jewish education. It wasn't until after World War II that the neglected state of Jewish education was improved, as the parents took an active role in supporting the establishment of Jewish institutions.

By 1968, all three branches of Judaism had established schools of higher learning. The Conservative Jewish Theological Seminary established the University of Judaism. Hebrew Union College organized a branch in Los Angeles. Valley Toray Center, Ohr Elchanan Chabad, Yeshiva Gedolah, and Yeshiva University of Los Angeles have also established schools for those wishing to continue their Torah studies in high school. YULA provides an extensive education for students who wish to continue their learning. There are programs geared for those with fine Jewish backgrounds, and for those with limited backgrounds. Additionally, there is a Kollel for young scholars who have come to Los Angeles to serve on the staff of YULA and to pursue their own studies.

The Weisenthal Center for Holocaust Studies, affiliated with Yeshiva University, is the first major Holocaust center in the United States. Those involved in the center study, research, and analyze every possible aspect of the tragic holocaust in order to enlighten the public about this catastrophic event in human history.

YULA has also established "Operation Outreach", a program designed to bring non-religious students on various college campuses closer to their heritage.

In addition to these schools of higher learning, there is also the Kollel Bais Avrohom, a branch of the Lake-wood Kollel, where men devote their time to Torah study. The Kollel offers classes to the community at large, as well as providing a setting for individual learning.

The Orthodox educational institutions affiliated with the Bureau of Jewish Education, are among the finest in the country. The elementary schools include Hillel Hebrew Academy, Yavneh Hebrew Academy, Emek, Sephardic Hebrew Academy, Yeshiva Ohr Elchanan, and Yeshivath Rav Isaacson (Toras Emes). Secondary schools, including Yeshiva University High School (formally Rambam Torah Institute), Valley Torah Center, Yeshiva Gedolah, Bais Yaakov, and high school programs of the Sephardic Academy and Ohr Elchanan have produced many fine scholars who have continued in the field of education.

The growth of the Orthodox community has brought about an abundance of kosher butchers, bakeries, groceries, restaurants, and caterers. There are also several mikva'oth and "shatnez laboratories," things that no Jewish community can be without.

Los Angeles also has a large number of Jewish cemeteries and several Chevrot Kaddishot which involve dedicated individuals who assume the responsibility of caring for the deceased until burial.

The Rabbinical Council of California was established to assist in any problems that may arise in the community. There is also a Kashrut department of the RCC that supervises various products and businesses.

Los Angeles also has a large Sephardic community with its members coming from Turkey, Greece, Morocco, Spain, Iraq Iran, India, and many other Eastern European Countries. Their fascinating culture is an added richness to our Jewish community.

The Los Angeles Jewish community has grown from a handful of Jewish inhabitants in 1841 to a thriving Jewish metropolis of over 700,000, making Los Angeles the second largest Jewish community in the United States. B'ezrat Hashem, we will continue to grow and to strengthen the bonds of Yiddishkeit throughout the city.

"My Neighborhood"

When the Jewish population moved westward from Boyle Heights in the nineteen forties, the Fairfax area became the center of Jewish community life in Los Angeles. This neighborhood is one of the few places in the United States where Jews can feel the true sense of tradition.

The shops of Fairfax accommodate the community with all the kosher and religious articles needed to maintain an observant life. On Erev Shabbat, the bakeries and markets are teeming with people anxious to make their last minute purchases before the Sabbath arrives. Young Chasidim, eager to perform the mitzvot of the Torah, urge male passers-by to put on tefilin, while young women with covered heads distribute small brass candleholders to encourage Jewish women to light Sabbath candles. Israeli music can be heard from the outdoor loud speakers of the Jewish record store, and wishes for a good and peaceful Shabbat fill the air.

After the preparations for the day have subsided, it is at last time to relax and enjoy the upcoming Sabbath.

My family watches as first my mother lights the Sabbath candles, followed by my sister and me. As we look onto the street through the large picture window in our dining room, we see families, groups of men in "striemels", and young boys with "pais" and oversized kippas hurriedly making their way to Friday evening services. As my father rushes out to join them, he is soon engrossed in a discussion with the rabbis concerning various commentaries on the week's Torah portion.

The girls in my family bustle about our house, making last minute additions to the table setting. Fresh flowers are placed on the table's center, along with salt for the challah and the kiddish wine. When my father arrives home, the family sits down to enjoy the evening meal. After kiddish is recited, we watch through our window as the men walk briskly homeward to their families who are eagerly awaiting their arrival. Watching the members of our community, faithfully keeping the Sabbath, we understand the essence of Judaism: individuals worshipping G-d, forming community united in religion and the observance of customs and traditions that have been passed down throughout the centuries.

תורה ומדע

אנו, עם ישראל, רק מיעוט הנבו בין תושבי העולם, אבל יש לנו השפעה גדולה בעולם כי יש בינינו אנשים חכמים. מהזמן שנולדנו כעם, דבקנו בתורתנו, בה' וחכמינו ורבותינו למדו גם מדעים. דוגמאות רבות נמצא בדברי ימי עמנו על חכמינו שהיו מומחים במקצועות מדעיים. למשל, הרמב"ם למד מדע, מתמטיקה, רפואה ואסטרונומיה. הוא נזכר כחכם הגדול בדורו. לא כתליד חכם בתורה בלבד אלא נחשב הוא כמדען חשוב ורופא המלך. יש אנשים האומרים שקולומבוס היה אנוס. הוא המציא הרבה מכשירים וגם גילה את אמריקה הצפונית. גם איינשטיין היה יהודי וחכם גדול. ככל עת אנשי העולם קראו לנו "עם הספר". אף פעם בהסטוריה, אפילו כשהיו לנו צרות רבות ופורענויות החרגשו עלינו, לא הפסקנו ללמוד, כדי שלא נהיה בורים ועמי-הארץ. יש מצוה בתורתנו: "ושננתם לבניך" הנפקדת על אבות שילמדו את בניהם ובני בניהם. גם היום חכמינו אינם מלמדים רק דברי תורה. הרב מיזלמן, ראש ישיבתנו, הנו רב ותלמיד חכם מובהק ולו תואר דוקטור במתמטיקה. אנו חיים בעולם הטכנולוגיה, וצריכים ללמד את בנינו ענייני חולין ומדעים המתאימים לימינו וגם לעתיד. יש לנו בתי ספר שונים בארץ ישראל. יש ישיבות שלומדים בהן רק חנ"ך ויש בתי ספר שלומדים בהם מדע בלבד ויש בתי ספר שלומדים בהם את שניהם, כמו אוניברסיטת בר-אילן. החנוך בא"י נחשב לטוב ביותר בעולם במדע ובטכנולוגיה. התלמידים מתקדמים שם בלימודי המדע כשנה או שנתיים לפני התלמידים בארצות הברית וקנדה. כדי לנצח במלחמה ולמען הבטחון, עלינו ללמד מדע כדי להמציא כלי נשק בהם נגן על ארצנו ועל עמנו. התקדמות בתחומי המדע יעזרו לנו להפרוח את אדמתנו, שהיא עכשו שוממה בחלקה. לדעתי, צריכים לשלב לימוד תורה ומדע. בלי מדע לא יכולים להיות בנוח בין אומות העולם, ובלי התורה אי אפשר להתקיים כיהודים, בשום פנים ואופן.

ע"י יוספה הולקאור.

תלמידות כתה י"ב הוכיחו את מידת החסד של בנוח ישראל בביקורים שבועיים בבתי אבות.

אהוד בן יוסף.

ליסוד תורה היא עבודה ה', וכל חפוס בנך יראה לעולם שחורה ה' תמידה , ושכל נחמדותיה שלום. ועליו לעשות זאת בדרך ארץ, ויקדש בנך את ה'. ואם לא יקפיד
על כך, יחלל את שלום את ה' ולא תהא זו דרך תחורה: שהוא ילמד את העולם. וכדוכים ליסוד התורה דעדר ארץ זה בזה, כפי שנאמר: אם אין תורה אין דרך ארץ, ואם אין דרך-ארץ אין תורה.

BOYS

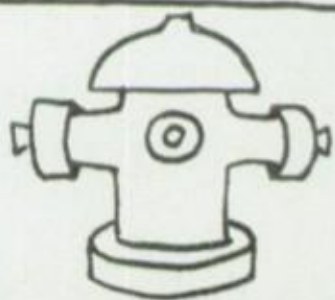

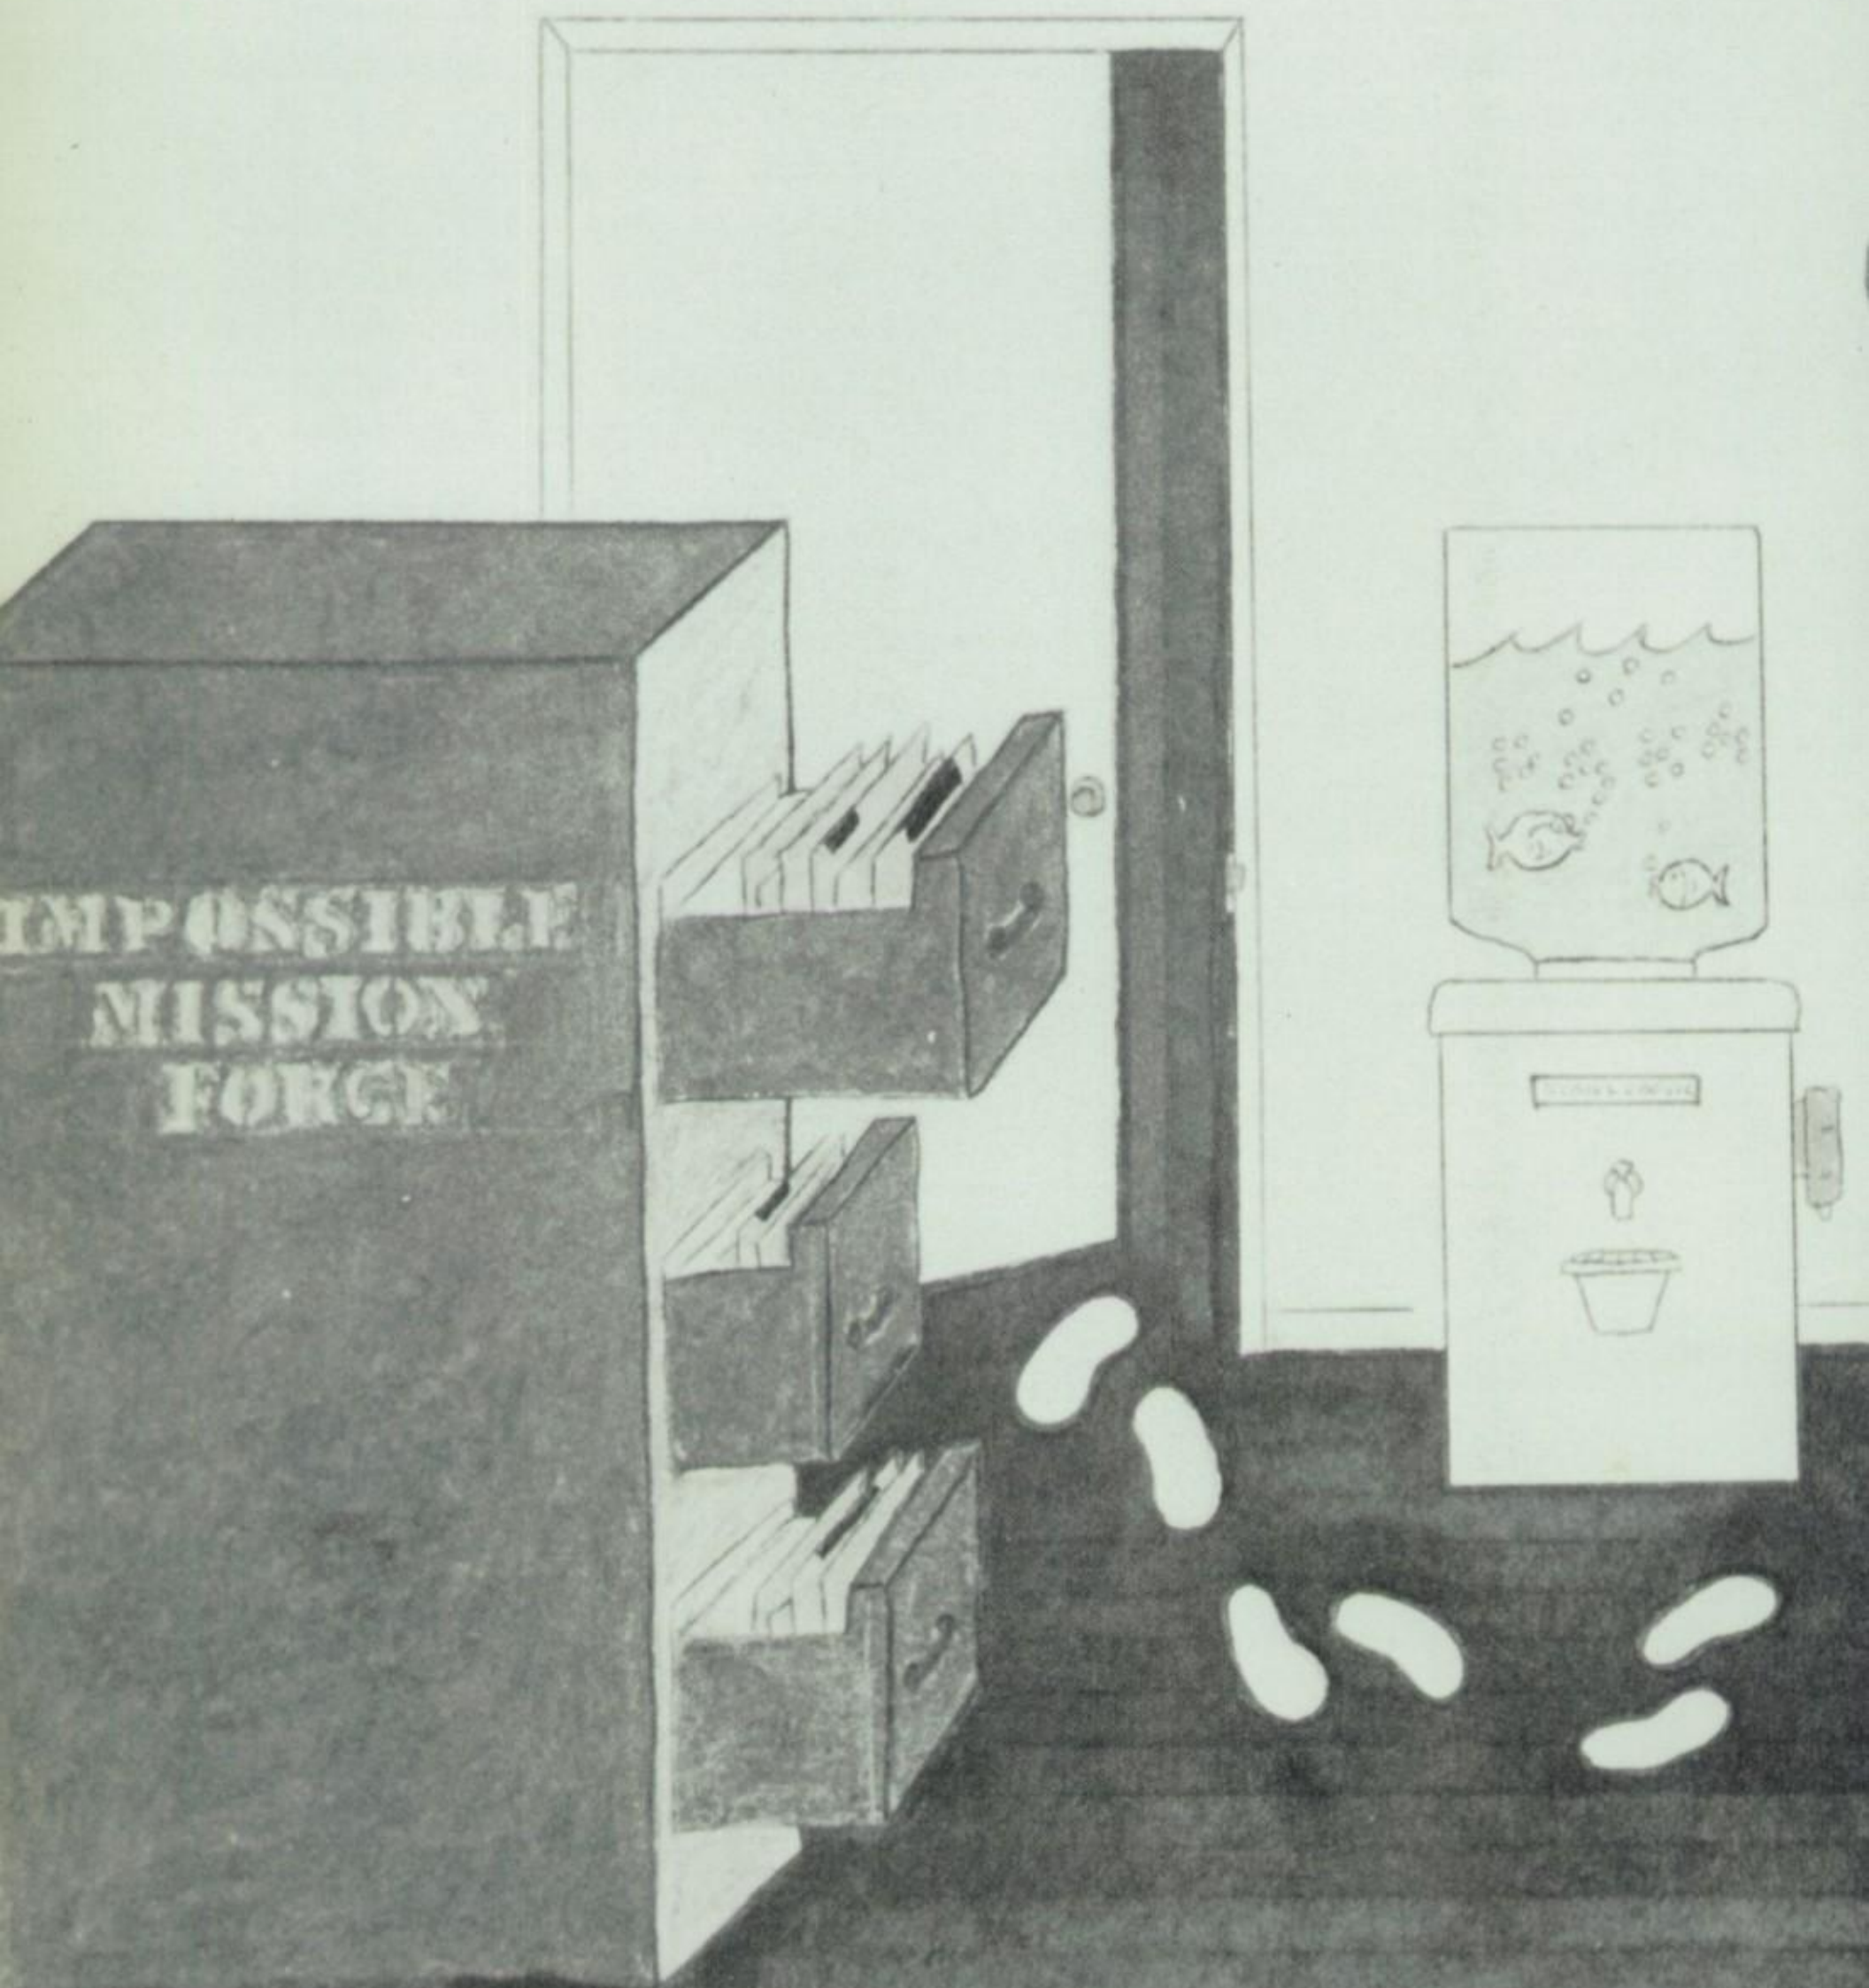

Good Day Sir,

In June of 1979, Rambam Torah Institute closed its doors and three months later, Yeshiva University High School was established. In YU's brief history, it has proven itself to be an outstanding Yeshiva high school by providing an excellent education in both talmudic and secular studies. It has expanded into a full four year program with an optional semester of talmudic studies in Israel. This year, 1981, YU has its first senior boys class. In the following files are the profiles of these men. They are the Impossible Mission force of 1981. Their all-important task is to obtain a strong Jewish foundation while in high school that will enable them to survive in today's society as a Jew. Your mission, should you decide to accept it, is to review their past year and evaluate whether they have completed their task and are worthy of graduating and excelling to the ultimate JM force.

GOOD LUCK

These files will self destruct when your mission has been completed.

Dear Anna,
I'm so happy we were in the same school this year. I hope we'll both go to the same school again
next year!

You're really a special person. I hope you realize how much everybody loves about-much!!!

I love talking to you. You're about the only person who under-

DANNY KOROBKIN

This past year Danny had the marvelous opportunity to spend a full year at the Chofetz Chayim Yeshiva in Jerusalem. For this reason, the yearbook staff has taken it upon itself to design and write Danny's page for him. Danny is one of our top seniors both in academics and in Torah learning. Last year he received top honors in The Yisrael Hadatit Essay contest winning a full year's scholarship to a Yeshiva in Israel. In addition, he received various other honors and awards for his academic excellence. This year Danny is making us all proud by excelling in Torah learning at the Chofetz Chayim Yeshiva. He is helping to put Los Angeles and YULA High School on the map as producers of competent and committed Torah Jews.

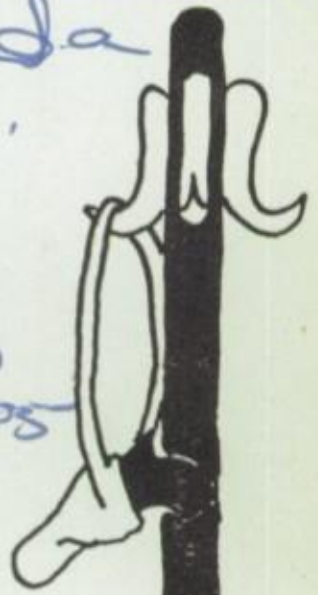

JERRY LAX

This past year Jerry had the marvelous opportunity to spend a full year at the Chofetz Chayim Yeshiva in Jerusalem. For this reason, the yearbook staff has taken it upon itself to design and write Jerry's page for him. Most would agree that Jerry was one of the "spark plugs" of YULA High School. His enthusiasm, good humor, and general "ruach" helped to create a dynamic and enjoyable atmosphere at YULA High. In addition, Jerry sets the highest example of commitment to academic and Torah learning, and is now making us all proud with his achievements at the Chofetz Chayim Yeshiva in Jerusalem.

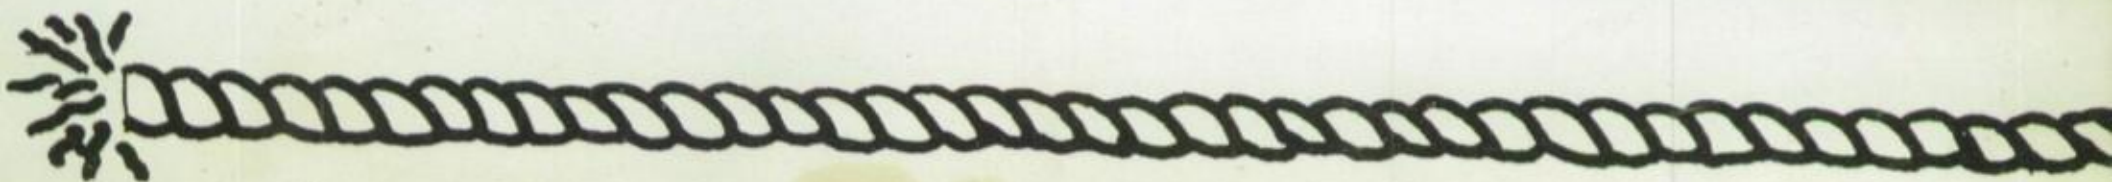

Dear Amina,
Well, what can I say? I'm so glad we became such good friends. And I hope
in the years to come,
we'll be even better friends. You'll always be considered a good friend.
Your friend always,
Shaun

Last Will and Testament

We, the senior class of 1981, of the Yeshiva University Los Angeles High School, allegedly being of sound mind and body, do hereby declare this document to be our last will and testament.

Article I

Eyal - a multi-million dollar contract with the L.A. Rams.
Matis - a yeshiva that he could not get kicked out of.
Oleg - a test in physics that he'd fail.
Haskel - a saying that someone else besides himself will understand.
George - a battalion of troops that he could lead.
Eddie - more time for Limudei Kodesh.
Nosson - a library of cliff notes.
Stan - more models to pose for the summer art classes that he missed.
Meir - a yearbook that has money to embezzle.
Bruce - a lifetime membership to the Sports Connection.
Kourosh - four more years of Sima's class.
Mark - his own kingdom in which he has to win.
Irwin - Cindy's pony tail.
Farhad - a personal tour of the girl's school.
Steve - a world full of NCSY'ers.
Joel - more free periods.
Amir - four more years of Mrs. Kurtzman.
Ronnie - a first place trophy in a Fred Shuldiner look-alike contest.
David - a lifetime supply of Benny Hill movies.
Alex - five free photography lessons.
Larry - bagels, gum, and sunflower seeds.

Article II

Teddy Dawson - a broken record saying Eyal Ben-Isaak, Elliot Ziblo, and Jeff Reemer.
Chabad - a better football team in order for them not to get shutout by us in the future.
Lintz - better luck next year.
Evan Malmuth - a totally new and unconceited personality.
Hap Zavaak - a chance to publish the Village People's yearbook.
New Jew - belief in G-d in order to win future football game.
Girz School - a better view from the alley.
Miguel - something to drink.
All the Babas and Happy People - five free lessons in Proper Jive.
Lydia and Jana - all our love.

Article III

Rabbi Hexter - more food fights.
Dr. Powell - DAKA written in bold print on every page in the yearbook.
Rabbi Auerbach - more toothpicks.
Rabbi Schnur - Pirum Looney.
Rabbi Gold - more freshies to beat up.
Rabbi Lerner - a subscription to WEE magazine.
Rabbi Niehaus - more food.
Mr. Katz - a calculator that doesn't have to be recharged.
David Ben Menachem - more students in the 12th grade.
Sima Harlev - a Cadillac without an alarm.
Mrs. Kurtzman - a microphone.
Mr. Butt - free hair transplant.
Mr. Shuldiner - new quizzes and outlines.
Mrs. Sinofsky - a bigger library.
Rabbi Tendler - better aim for throwing erasers.

We hereby appoint and designate the Senior Class of 1982 to carry out the terms of the above document faithfully, and to serve without compensation.

We, whose names are transcribed below do certify this, on the eighteenth of June, in the year One Thousand Nine Hundred Eighty One.

To my daughter Angela

What must I do to insure peace of mind?
Is the answer I'm seeking, too hard to find?
How can I know what G-d wants me to be?
How can I tell what's expected of me?
Where can I go for guidance and aid to help me correct the errors I've made?
The answer is found in doing three things and great is the gladness that doing them brings.
"Do Justice, Love, Kindness- walk honestly with G-d"

For with these three things as your "rule and rod"
All things worth having are yours to achieve
If you follow G-d's words and have faith to believe

I knew you could do it

Dear Aviva,
 I hope that next year with your special met you will enjoy everything and that much. And instead of school met tons of fun. We will have love you,

 Hillman

Dear Aviva,
 Well, I'm real happy that you are back and that you're feeling better. You are looking really good and seem to be very happy. Especially now that you're out of the "H". You know,

we never finished the situation with all my husbands.
 Hope you have a happy summer
 and see you
 next year.

I want to tell you that you are a very nice person and I'm glad I became friends w/ you.
 If you ever have anything on your mind or something is wrong, please come and talk to me. OK?

 See ya in school!!
 Love always,
 Chana A.

Dear Anne,
 you're a real special person
 a wonderful student.
 I'm sure you'll do well in all the you'll undertake.

Fondly,
 Rafael H.

Dearest Aviva,
It's been a real pleasure having you in my class - I am anxiously looking forward to seeing you next year.
You are a very special person!
Have a happy & healthy
summer.
Warmest
wishes.
(Mrs) C. Bess

Dear Aviva,
I know you wanted me to someplace interesting but there is no place better. It was really good that you came to Y.U. I hope you had a really good year and I am happy that I got to meet you.
I remember always seeing you before but never had the courage to go up to you. I see now that it was stupid for me not to.
Have a good summer &
to see you next year.

Love
Cheryl
